Preface

THIS INDEX to the Andrew Johnson Papers is a direct result of the wish of the Congress and the President as expressed by Public Law 85-147 of August 16, 1957, and amended by Public Law 87-263 approved September 21, 1961, to arrange, microfilm, and index the papers of the Presidents in the Library of Congress in order "to preserve their contents against destruction by war or other calamity," to make the Johnson and other Presidential Papers more "readily available for study and research," and to inspire informed patriotism. An appropriation to carry out the provisions of the law was approved on July 31, 1958, and actual operations began on August 25.

The microfilm reproduction of the Johnson Papers became available in 1961. Positive copies of the film may be purchased from the Chief, Photoduplication Service, Library of Congress, Washington 25, D.C. A positive print is available for inter-library loan through the Chief, Loan Division, Library of Congress.

WHEN the Civil War came to Greeneville, Tennessee, Andrew Johnson, the only pro-Union southern Senator, was elsewhere in the state stumping for Union men.* In a state torn by conflicting loyalties and violence, Johnson was to Confederate sympathizers a man marked for extermination. Escaping several ambushes, he eventually rode to Washington leaving in Greeneville his invalid wife, one small son, and his personal papers. He had always valued the records of his career. Before the war he and his wife had carefully gathered and organized his books and papers in one room of his office.<sup>1</sup> Yet when the war was over little record of his early career had survived.

In March 1862 Johnson returned to Tennessee as military governor, with headquarters at Nashville, to begin the difficult task of establishing Federal authority in a state predominantly Confederate in sympathy. East Tennessee was overrun by rebel forces, and Johnson was isolated from Greeneville. Later in 1862 Confederate General Edmund Kirby Smith ordered Mrs. Johnson to leave Greeneville and pass through the Confederate lines to Nashville.<sup>2</sup> In the years that followed, Johnson's home and office were used by troops of both armies at various times as hospital, barracks, officers' residence, and den for camp followers.<sup>3</sup>

On February 14, 1864, Robert Johnson wrote from Nashville to his father that it was "rumored at Knoxville that the rebels had taken possession of all our Books, papers, &c. at Greeneville. Mr. Joe Allen brought the information here. I hope it may prove incorrect . . ."<sup>4</sup> Such fears were well grounded, for General James Longstreet's troops were in Greeneville in the early part of 1864. Major Raphael J. Moses of Georgia, Longstreet's Chief Commissary of Subsistence, recounted the episode in his recollections written in 1890:

"On another occasion in East Tennessee we stopped at Greeneville and I had my Headquarters in the Law Library of Andrew Johnson, afterwards president of the United States, within sight of his office which, by the way, was in one of the side rooms of the Tavern. We were in sight of the little shop still standing where Andy, as the Tennesseans called him had his tailor shop.

"After leaving Greeneville we went to Morristown, [Tenn.] about fifteen miles, and while there I happened to mention a heavy box in Johnson's Library which was nailed up. [Col. John W.] Fairfax immediately 'snuffed not tyranny but whiskey in the tainted air' and exclaimed, 'by George! Moses why didn't you tell me before we left? Old Andy was very fond of good old rye whiskey and I mean to have it.' He immediately got a detail of soldiers and a wagon and had the box brought to camp. When it arrived Fairfax's eyes glistened with anxious expectation, soon followed by despondency as on opening the box it contained instead of old liquor, nothing but Andy Johnson's old letters and private papers.

"The question was 'what shall we do with it.' It was too heavy and cumbersome to carry on the campaign with our limited transportation; Fairfax and rest of the staff said burn the cussed thing. I said 'Oh no, not until I look over the contents.' We staid several days at Morristown and I amused myself looking over the papers, selected what I wanted and destroyed the rest. Among the letters which I selected were several giving details of a patent for cutting out clothes. Some were from laboring men, as illiterate as Johnson then was . . . I took some letters written to a Mr. Wm. Lowry whom I knew in Tennessee and who after the War became a Banker in Atlanta. Some written as he advanced in life to James K. Polk of Tennessee, afterwards President of the United States, and some to his wife from the Congress of the United States about the year 1860, when the crisis was about to mature which resulted in the revolution . . .

"After the War I met Lowry in Atlanta. Johnson was then President, I knew they were intimate, and I also knew that Johnson would very much prize the letters which I selected. There were probably forty Graf, of the University of Tennessee and an editor of the projected publication of the Andrew Johnson Papers, who read and commented on a draft of this essay. Dr. Graf and his associate, Dr. Ralph W. or fifty, commencing when he was a poor illiterate tailor and tracing him from time to time as he rose in public estimation and became a power in the land.

"I told Lowry I had some papers belonging to Johnson that I knew he would prize very much, and I would give them to him for Johnson if he, Lowry, would promise me that he would not let Johnson know where he got them. He so promised me, and I delivered him the package of papers which I suppose he gave to Johnson who was then President, he being Vice President when Lincoln was assassinated and as we had no Law that protected a Southerner then, I was a little afraid to let Johnson know that I had been among his papers."<sup>5</sup>

A letter written by Andrew Johnson to his son Robert dated April 16, 1854, now a part of the Norman and Charlotte Strouse Collection in the Free Library of Philadelphia, bears the following endorsement in an unidentified handwriting:

"February 3/64

"This letter is written by the notorious traitor Andy Johnson, whilst Governor of Tennessee—I got it from a number of others contained in a trunk of his, which was captured by our troops at Greenville where Johnson resided—

"The letter is a fair specimen of Johnson's grammar & orthography and good hard sense—"

On April 17, 1866, W. H. Snyder wrote from Gordonsville, Virginia, and returned to Johnson a book from "some one who was with the Army of Genl. Longstreet when it marched through 'East Tenn' during the winter of '63 when it was I presume taken from your home at 'Greenville.'"<sup>6</sup>

Whether a second raid occurred about the same time is not clear from surviving written records. Details vary in these reports all of which were written years after the events. We know, nevertheless, that shortly after leaving the White House Johnson wrote on June 23, 1869, from Greeneville to General Longstreet: "I have been informed that in eighteen hundred and sixty-four while you were in command of this post as General in the Confederate Army that an officer under an order from you with a squad of men forcibly [sic] entered the Store House of Mr. George Jones of this place and seize[d] a number of trunks which had been deposited there by my family for safe keeping. These trunks were broken open and their contents examined by the officer and the squad and report made to you . . . . These trunks contained many valuable articles of property as well as papers: such as deeds, bills of sale, mortgages, memoranda of matters of much importance to me, also a number of valuable letters many of them of a private character. . . . Any information in regard to these trunks and their contents will be thankfully received. . . ."<sup>7</sup>

Longstreet denied any knowledge of the incident and referred Johnson to Col. John W. Fairfax of Aldie, Virginia, his inspector general in 1864.<sup>8</sup> From Colonel Fairfax, Johnson received on December 2, 1869, the following account: "When we were camped at Russel[l]ville, [Tenn.], Sergeant Hutchison of the Signal Corps reported to me that there was a lot of Baggage, belonging to you stowed at Greenville; I ordered an escort of cavalry to report to him—ordered Hutchison to take charge of the Baggage and deliver the same to Maj. E[rasmus]. Taylor, Chief Qr Master . . . . I never saw the Baggage or any part of it except a blank State Bond (Tenn.), which fell into the hands of Maj. R. I. Moses, Chief Com. of Sub. . . who filled it up to have a little amusement in Camp; and two or three of the trunks I saw for the first time upon the Cars, as General Longstreet and myself were upon our way to Gen'l Lee's Hd. Qrs. near Orange C. H. Va. . . ."<sup>9</sup> Sergeant Hutchison was killed later and his commanding officer, Capt. J. H. Manning, could provide no assistance. He wrote on July 7, "It is not in my power to give any information which would aid in the recovery of Hon. A. Johnson's property, captured at Greenville, Tenn. Some of his papers were filed in my hands, but having been sent to Rich[mond] with a portion of my baggage were all destroyed by fire. . . ."<sup>10</sup>

The account in Colonel Fairfax's letter varies from that given by Major Moses. Yet the nature of the papers sought by Johnson and of those described by Moses leaves little doubt that the same manuscripts were described. It is clear that at least one and perhaps two raids on Johnson's papers occurred and that few of the early papers survived. Since Moses gave what he had to Johnson's friend, William Lowery, for return to Johnson these may be a part of the comparatively few early letters now in the collection.

Moses (p. 67) in his recollections states that while Longstreet and Fairfax tried to determine who owned the captured bond he (Moses) tossed it into the fire and then admitted that he had filled in the blank bond to play a joke on Fairfax. Moses' two superior officers hesitated and then decided to laugh.

The Johnson house remained neglected and in a state of disrepair through the period when Johnson served as Vice-President and President.<sup>11</sup> As the end of his term on March 4, 1869, approached Johnson and his family made plans to return to Greeneville. His secretary, Col. William Moore, listed boxes packed for shipping containing "private letters," "miscellaneous papers," "scrapbooks," and other records.<sup>12</sup> On the morning of March 4 David Patterson and cabinet officers came and went from the White House, and laborers removed the family's baggage marked for Greeneville. On the 16th the Johnson entourage departed Washington for Greeneville, where they arrived on March 20.<sup>13</sup> The papers for the period of Johnson's Presidency, intact and treasured as the true record of that stormy regime, were carefully put away.

After several years of active participation in Tennessee politics and a brief term in the U.S. Senate in 1875, Johnson died in July of that year. His papers came in time into the sole possession of Martha Johnson Patterson, his elder daughter. For several years before and after Johnson's death there were numerous requests from public speakers, writers on the Civil War and Reconstruction, prospective biographers, and others to use the papers. Apparently few of these requests were granted. Mrs. Patterson guarded the records zealously waiting the time when partisanship would cool and history could more calmly evaluate her father's role in an embittered period of our history.

Laura Carter Holloway, a Brooklyn author and editor, and an earlier acquaintance of the family was among those who enquired. She had written in 1871 requesting from Johnson a biographical sketch for use in her proposed book, "Homes of Famous Americans."<sup>14</sup> Years later in the 1890's Mrs. Holloway, planning a biography of Andrew Johnson, visited Greeneville and was given access to the collection by Martha Patterson.<sup>15</sup> Mrs. Holloway, by a later marriage Mrs. Langford, was again granted access to the papers around 1900, at which time a large part of the collection was in the possession of David M. DeWitt for the preparation of his book, Impeachment and Trial of Andrew Johnson. According to Mrs. Langford, in a letter to Worthington C. Ford, November 9, 1922, "while Mr. David DeWitt was writing his book on the impeachment trial, he had use of the papers, and, at Mrs. Patterson's request, he sent the trunks containing them to me in Brooklyn. Later I expressed them to her in Greeneville . . . ." <sup>16</sup>

The family contended that Mrs. Langford did not return all the papers.<sup>17</sup> An inscription in the family Bible states that this intimate family record was given to Laura Langford by Martha Patterson.<sup>18</sup> In 1903 Mrs. Langford wrote to John Hay about certain letters Abraham Lincoln had written to Andrew Johnson and which, she said, "were given to me by the daughter of President Johnson."<sup>19</sup> Five Lincoln-to-Johnson letters were sold by Mrs. Holloway in 1907 to George S. Hellman who immediately resold them to J. Pierpont Morgan.<sup>20</sup> Hellman retained other letters purchased from Mrs. Langford and did not dispose of them for several years.

Martha Patterson, before her death in 1901, also granted access to the papers returned by Mrs. Langford to the Rev. James S. Jones, pastor at Greeneville, for his Life of Andrew Johnson. Upon Martha Patterson's death the papers passed into the possession of her son, Andrew Johnson Patterson, who, before his mother's death, had returned to the family home from a consular post in South America.

In November 1903 Worthington C. Ford, Chief of the Manuscript Division of the Library of Congress, visited Greeneville, made a brief examination of the collection, and proposed to Mr. Patterson that it come to the Library.<sup>21</sup> After a second examination in 1904, Ford reported to the Librarian: "The deeper

I went into the collection the more valuable did it appear. . . . It can never be duplicated, it can never be approached for the period it covers . . . ."<sup>22</sup> Through the good offices of the Reverend Mr. Jones, then president of Murphy College in nearby Sevierville, negotiations were opened and later in 1904 the Library purchased the collection.

Minor additions, chiefly from the Patterson family, have been made in subsequent years; the one large addition was that of 1930 when 1,500 pieces relating to the pre-Presidential period came to the Library. In 1923 the Library acquired the shorthand diary of William G. Moore, President Johnson's secretary. In two volumes of Pitman shorthand this valuable record covers the period from July 1866 to April 1869. Two volumes of the accounts of Johnson's tailor shop in Greeneville were purchased in 1944. The number of items in the Johnson Papers is 23,477. Except when they were evacuated during World War II, the Johnson Papers have been available for consultation as long as they have been in the Library of Congress.<sup>23</sup>

In the winter of 1913-14 George S. Hellman offered a collection of choice Johnson manuscripts to the Library of Congress.<sup>24</sup> The Library was unable to purchase these manuscripts. The same collection, identified as materials "given by Andrew Johnson's daughter, Martha Patterson, to her life-long and most intimate friend, Mrs. Laura C. Langford," was sold at auction in New York in 1919.<sup>25</sup> It included 13 of the longest and most discursive letters written by Johnson on family and political matters.<sup>26</sup> These items are now in the Henry E. Huntington Library at San Marino, California. Records of Johnson's services as civil and military governor (1853-1857, 1862-1865) are in the Tennessee State Library and Archives at Nashville. No collection of significant size exists in any other library, although there are scores of Johnson's letters in the papers of his contemporaries located in other libraries and in other collections in the Library of Congress. Manuscript notes of Laura C. Holloway and "a large number of Johnson's private papers" are reported to be in the possession of Margaret Patterson Bartlett, great-granddaughter of Johnson.<sup>27</sup> The National Union Catalog of Manuscript Collections now being created at the Library of Congress may eventually reveal the whereabouts of other Johnson manuscripts.

of Congress or elsewhere are not indexed in this volume.

This index to the Andrew Johnson Papers is designed primarily as a means of ascertaining what documents exist in this collection and where they may be found on the microfilm reproduction. It is essentially a name index listing names of writers and recipients of letters, alphabetically first and then chronologically when the same name appears more than once. It is not a subject index, but materials such as Johnson's speeches and drafts of messages to Congress found in this collection are cross-indexed under these subject headings as well as under the name of the writer. Some miscellaneous items, for which no name appears, are listed under a subject title.

To find a document or furnish a reference, note first the series number. The reproduction of the manuscript will be found in chronological order within the series. If for any reason the normal chronological order does not apply, the date after which the item will be found appears in the addenda column. For manuscripts in book records, volume and page references are given. The reel list appears on pages x-xi.

This index was produced by the use of key-punched cards which sorted and printed mechanically. This technique permitted a number of economies but imposed in return a few limitations. Some of the paraphernalia normally found in indexes and calendars had to be abandoned. Many of the peculiarities of this index are illustrated in the sequence of sample entries which appears with this explanation.

The names of correspondents—that is, writers of letters to President Johnson or persons addressed by him, including organizations and governmental agencies—are arranged alphabetically. A letter not written by or to President Johnson is indexed both by writer and recipient as in the eighth and twelfth entries. Any correspondence on behalf of an organization, public or private, is indexed under the name of the organization, rather than the name of the writer, as in the second entry; the Buffalo Andy Johnson Guards is indexed rather than the name of the commanding officer, Captain John W. Schlehr, who signed the document. Such corporate entries, if local in scope, are indexed under their geographical locations. Except for the largest cities, the name of the town or county is followed by the abbreviated State name. If the writer of an unsigned letter cannot be identified, the entry is indexed under the word "UNKNOWN" in its proper alphabetical position as in the example. President Johnson's name is not listed in the index column except in cases where he is the author of a document such as a speech or a message to Congress. The names of other Presidents appear in full as in the twelfth entry.

Since space is limited in the writer-recipient column, the second name appearing in this column, usually following "TO" or "FROM," is frequently given in a shortened or abbreviated form. In such cases the second name (except President Johnson's name) is also entered fully in the normal alphabetical order. For example, in the twelfth entry of the sample, N M EISENHOWER appears in a previous entry as EISENHOWER NATHAN M. When lack of space does not permit use of the full name, a short form must be used, but the full name is given separately in a cross reference as in the seventh entry. All titles—civil, military, ecclesiastical, hereditary, honorary, and others—are omitted except "Mrs." for a married woman whose own name is not known.

The date column calls for little comment beyond emphasizing what has already been mentioned, i.e., when there are two or more entries for a single name in this index, they are arranged chronologically regardless of the person addressed or the nature of the document. Abbreviations for the names of the months have been reduced to two letters.

The particular attention of the user is invited to the fact that the number of pages for an item includes every page which has any writing. A page by this definition includes envelopes or cover sheets, docket entries, endorsements of one or more words, file numbers, and similar writing. Only notations made by the Library of Congress are excluded from the page count.

The final or addenda column of the index has been used as a "catchall" for data which cannot be fitted into the closely calculated spacing of the main entry. Documents other than letters are, in each instance, identified in this column, occasionally by content but more often by form. When a date or a name and date appear in the addenda column, as in the first entry, an item is for some reason not in its place in the normal chronological order, for instance an enclosure filed with its covering letter rather than under its own date.

The user is advised that, while a few subject entries and cross-reference entries appear, no complete or systematic listing of subjects has been attempted. Subject entries which do appear are only those which were easily and readily available during the preparation of the index.

For information concerning the series arrangement see the description which appears on pages 150-3 and the reel list which follows these suggestions on the use of the index.

DESCRIPTION OF THE PAPERS

The papers of Andrew Johnson (1808-1875), Congressman, Governor of Tennessee, United States Senator, Vice President, and President of the United States, were acquired by the Library of Congress from President Johnson's descendants in 1904 and 1930. The greater number of the documents are in the years of the Presidency. Additions to the Johnson Papers have been acquired from time to time. A complete list of accessions from 1904 is appended to this statement.

The Johnson Papers are arranged in twenty series:

Series 1. General Correspondence. 1841-1891.

President Johnson's personal non-official correspondence consisting primarily of letters received. Arranged chronologically and within days arranged alphabetically. [Reels 1-39]

Series 2. Additional Correspondence. 1814-1900.

10 volumes. Correspondence similar to that in Series 1. Arranged roughly in chronological order by day and in alphabetical order within the day. Manuscript contemporary indexes for volumes 5-10 are at the end of the series. [Reels 39-42]

Series 3. Letterbooks. 1864-1869. 10 volumes.

Sub-series A: 1865-1869. Six volumes.

Six volumes of letter press copies of letters and telegrams signed by President Johnson or his secretaries. Four volumes contain correspondence in a chronological sequence for the period May 29, 1865 to Feb. 17, 1869; Volume V includes additional correspondence for the period, Sept. 20, 1865 to Oct. 3, 1867 and Volume VI for the period Jan. 16, 1865 to Feb. 17, 1869. Within volumes the arrangement is chronological. Some of the letters are partially or wholly illegible. Fair copies of most of these letters may be found in Sub-series B.

Sub-series B: 1864-1869. Four volumes.

Three volumes of fair copies of letters and telegrams, chiefly copies from the Letter Press volumes in Sub-series A. Some fair copies are not represented in the Letter Press volumes, and arrangement does not consistently follow that of the Letter Press volumes. Copies of most of the items in Letter Press Volumes I and V are in Fair Copy Volume I, and in Letter Press Volumes III and IV are in Fair Copy Volume II, but Fair Copy volumes may include letters from three different Letter Press volumes. Fair Copy Volume III, pages 38-263, includes copies of communications between General George C. Meade and officers in his command, May 3-June 25, 1864. Volumes I and II include indexes and there is a separate bound volume index to Volume I. [Reels 42-43]

Series 4. Indexes to Letters Received and Record Book. 1862-1869. Seven volumes.

Sub-series A: 1865-1869. Five volumes.

Indexes of letters received by President Johnson. Entries include name of writer, purport, date received, agency to which the letter was referred and date of referral, and are entered alphabetically in each volume by the first letter of surname of writer. The volumes are arranged in rough chronological order by the earliest date in each volume. Volumes 1 and 2 overlap in dates.

The user is cautioned that the publication of the contents of this microfilm may be construed as constituting a violation of literary property rights. These rights derive from the principle of common law that the writer of an unpublished letter or other manuscript has the sole right to publish the contents thereof; unless he affirmatively parts with the right; the right descends to his legal heirs regardless of the ownership of the physical manuscript itself. It is the responsibility of an author or his publisher to secure the permission of the owner of literary property rights in unpublished writings.

In the case of the Andrew Johnson Papers, no dedication to the public of the literary property rights is known (July 30, 1960) to have been made.

STATEMENT OF THE LIBRARIAN OF CONGRESS

The following statement on the Presidential Papers Program appears on the microfilm of each group of papers:

The personal papers of 23 Presidents of the United States are in the Library of Congress. Under an Act of Congress (Public Law 85-147) approved August 16, 1957, the Librarian of Congress was directed to arrange, microfilm, and index these papers. The purpose of the legislation was to provide greater security through the wide distribution of copies of the microfilm and to facilitate the use of the papers by scholars and others. An appropriation for this work was made in August 1958, and the project was begun the same month. Presidents whose papers are in the Library are:

George Washington	James K. Polk	Chester A. Arthur
Thomas Jefferson	Zachary Taylor	Grover Cleveland
James Madison	Franklin Pierce	Benjamin Harrison
James Monroe	Abraham Lincoln	William McKinley
Andrew Jackson	Andrew Johnson	Theodore Roosevelt
Martin Van Buren	Ulysses S. Grant	William H. Taft
William H. Harrison	James A. Garfield	Woodrow Wilson
John Tyler		Calvin Coolidge

The size and complexity of the groups of Presidential papers vary greatly. One group of Presidential papers contains fewer than 1,000 documents and is arranged in a simple chronological order. Another contains about 500,000 documents and will require division into a number of series with different internal arrangements. A specific statement about each group of Presidential papers follows this general statement.

The user is advised that indexes (largely of correspondents in the papers) will be prepared and published in book form. Announcements concerning the availability of the indexes as well as of microfilms of other groups of Presidential papers will be made from time to time. Inquiry may be made of the Chief of the Manuscript Division concerning future publication plans.
